FRANK H. GREENE, Treasurer.

I, the subscriber, have this day, March 1, 1884, examined the Treasurer’s accounts and find them well vouched and correctly cast, and balance in the Treasury of $1569.82.

ALBERT J. SANBORN, Auditor.

DISTRICT No. 2. Mr. Henry Bragg, Prudential Committee. Miss Emma L. Drake in charge. This school last year, through an unfortunate combination of circumstances, was placed four times under the care of as many different teachers; as a consequence the pupils could not receive a proper amount of instruction, nor profit so much by the time employed, as in other years. This year, however, has been propitious. Miss Drake was energetic and faithful, and performed her duties in a most satisfactory manner. The improvement from the beginning of school to its close, was very remarkable; the scholars were obedient and of good behavior, while the greater part of them were studious, being particularly ambitious to excel. The progress in study, which was great, gave evidence of time well spent; the general management was superior.

DISTRICT No. 3. Mr. Joseph Walton, Prudential Committee. Miss M. Hortense Wiggin, teacher. This school, the Winter term by Mr. Jackson M. Hoit. Until the commencement of the Winter term, the expectations of the parents and those interested in the school were not realized. There were some scholars, however, to whom great credit is due for their zealous application to study and good deportment throughout the whole year; but taken as a whole, the school needed a teacher who should be the possessor of at least as much tact for management, as talent for instruction. Mr. Hoit has proved eminently successful in his government; he is obeyed and also liked and respected by his pupils. The scholars were awakened to a new interest, and during his administration have made praiseworthy efforts to excel as well as to regain some of their former prestige. The school, at the time of writing this report, is still in session, and the progress made thus far fully justifies the belief that this, the last term, will have been a very profitable one.

DISTRICT No. 5. Mr. David F. Souther, Prudential

Committee. Primary Department: Miss Mary L. Perkins, teacher. In a school like this where so many small scholars are to be watched over and cared for through a long term of school, it requires life and perseverance to be a part of the teacher's own individual constitution. These important qualifications Miss Perkins proved herself to possess; she was untiring in her efforts to interest and instruct her pupils, and introduced many novel and useful ways to attract and hold their attention. Good advances were made by many of the scholars, some of whom, as little children, could hardly be outdone by the older ones. Taken as a whole, the school has made a good record; the order was very good, as much so as could be expected, considering the number in attendance.

Grammar Department: Mrs. Fannie E. Souther, teacher. This school, composed of the older and most advanced scholars of the district, was placed under the care of a well-qualified and experienced teacher. Mrs. Souther having been a teacher for several years past, both in public and private schools, well understood the methods which would be most successful in the way of school government and instruction. The pupils, however, were well regulated of themselves, and gave their teacher but little occasion to criticize their deportment; good progress was made, and what was learned was generally well learned. The school of this year has been a success and has kept its former record good.

DISTRICT No. 6. Mr. Eben Smith, Presidential Committee. This school was placed in charge of Miss Ursula Smith, a teacher well qualified to instruct, and one also of good ability to govern. A greater part of the scholars were well disposed, and applied themselves closely to their tasks. Those whose inclination would lead them to pursue an opposite course, were restrained by their teacher's presence, and, through her efforts, most of them were influenced to study and become interested in their lessons. Great improvement was made by all the classes during the year, and the result of the year's teaching and study have been highly satisfactory.

The School Committee particularly desire to call the attention of all who are interested in school affairs, and some of whom in the course of events will be selected to serve their respective districts as Presidential Committees, to a part of the "General Laws" relating to the payment of teachers for their services.

"Every teacher at the close of his school and at the end of the term thereof, shall make a return of the register to the School Committee of the town, who shall give him a certificate thereof; and no teacher shall receive payment for his services until such certificate is produced and delivered to the School Committee."—General Laws, Chap. 89, Sec. 16.

In many instances these provisions and requirements have not been complied with; teachers, after having drawn their salaries, forward their registers to the Superintendent, which upon inspection too often are found to be incorrectly filled out. To correct some of these errors would be a task of considerable magnitude; in arranging statistical tables and the Roll of Honor, at the end of the year, mistakes have occurred in the School Committee's report, due entirely to this cause. This, it seems to the Committee, is a matter of enough importance to demand a strict fulfilment of the whole law.

This report is respectfully submitted.

NOTE.—The Roll of Honor is made up of only those scholars, who have not been absent one half-day, nor tardy once during the whole year; but it is obvious that the names of many worthy pupils do not appear on the Roll, by reason of sickness, and not from any other fault of their own. It would then appear as a matter of right and justice to record the names of those who are known to have been detained at home only on account of some illness or disease. In District No. 5 there appeared a severe and wide-spreading epidemic of measles, near the close of the Winter term. This unfortunate occurrence reduced the average daily attendance of the schools, and the Roll of Honor, already a large one, would have been considerably augmented if it had not been for so many contracting the disease. Following these remarks will be found a list of those scholars known to have remained at home only from illness and no other cause. No doubt there are others equally as deserving of mention, whose names are not upon this list, not having been reported by their teachers, and therefore are not known to the School Committee. Those that are known are as follows:
